

MONITOR YOUR HEALTH

STAY HEALTHY

Monitoring of your health becomes more important as you age. For seniors, both physical and mental health are qualifying factors for satisfaction with life. Sometimes, health changes unknowingly occur in between visits to the doctor or visits from a care provider. How can family members and care providers alike ensure that the seniors they care for are healthy and well without intruding on their lifestyle?

The Most Comprehensive RPM Solution

A comprehensive Remote Patient Monitoring (RPM) solution provides seniors with the health information that they need from the safety of wherever they call home. Stay Healthy combines innovative technology with world class health services. Daily blood pressure, pulse, oxygen, temperature and weight are easily measured and collected. Passive sensors provide the highest level of supervision with the least amount of intrusion. A dedicated professional nurse oversees cognitive health remotely and has the ability to dispatch medical support if needed.

RPM Creates Self-Sufficiency with Added Protection

Using Stay Healthy, seniors check their own vitals, allowing for seniors in any living environment to be responsible for their own health. If any noticeable changes occur, family members or care providers can be contacted immediately to ensure the correct actions are taken. By providing data history, seniors can also discuss any major concerns with their doctors or caregivers.
